DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-9, drawn to an electronic device, classified in class 428, subclass 413.
  - II. Claims 10-11, drawn to a method of forming an interface, classified in class 156, subclass 60.
  - III. Claims 12-15, drawn to a computer-assisted process for estimating durability of an interface, classified in class 73, subclass 788.
  - IV. Claims 16-20, drawn to a computer-assisted method for generating a dynamic model of an interface, classified in class 395, subclass 500.23.
  - V. Claim 21, drawn to a model for evaluating an interface, classified in class 395, subclass 701.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made by another and materially different process, such as one that does not include a modeling step.
3. Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the process for using the product can be practiced with another materially different product, such as a one comprising a polymer derived from any monomer other than the one claimed in Group I, which provides an adhesive characteristic.

4. Inventions I and IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the process for using the product can be practiced with another materially different product, such as a one comprising a polymer derived from any monomer other than the one claimed in Group I, which provides an adhesive characteristic.

5. Inventions V and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because a device comprising any polymer having adhesive characteristics can be used for the model. The subcombination has separate utility such as an electronic device.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1712

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
